2025 CATALOG

Aluminum and Fiberglass Boats

FISHING FIRST. LUND FOREVER.

Lund® has led the way in fishing for generations because our boats are built by anglers for anglers. Your precious gear and tackle is protected by solid, secure storage. Spacious and durable seating means comfort even on the longest of fishing adventures. And rock-solid construction means year after year of reliable performance. All this combined translates to one thing—more fish in the boat.

CONSTRUCTION

"I've had my Lund out in all kinds of weather. It has always stayed dry and is an all-around awesome boat."

Brian F.
2021, 1650 Rebel XL

PERFORMANCE

"My 2075 Tyeer is everything I expected and more. Great ride and motor performance, turns on rails, handled waves and trailered great with my half ton."

Dave S.
2019, 2075 Tyeer

VERSATILITY

"I love how my Pro-V is so much more than a fishing boat. I can fish tournaments in the morning, then turn around and spend time with my grandkids—fishing, waterskiing, tubing, or just cruising. My Lund can do it all."

Kyle A.
2024, 202 Pro-V GL

HERITAGE

"My father-in-law bought the boat new and gifted it to us about 10 years ago. I love that my kids are learning to fish in the same boat my wife did."

Kris D.
1990, 1750 Tyeer

CHOOSING A TRAILER

A little guidance for answering the age-old question: Bunk or Roller?

BUNK

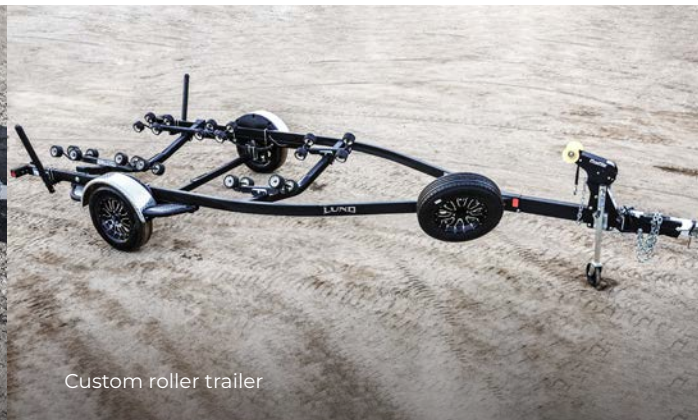

Bunk trailers are built with carpeted boards that allow the boat to slide on or off. These trailers are designed to be used at improved boat launches with level ramps. Winch straps can safely be detached when launching and loading. Bunk trailers are less expensive and work well with all Lund boats.

ROLLER

Roller trailers feature nylon wheels that allow the boat to roll smoothly on and off the trailer. They work at traditional boat ramps as well as shallow accesses. The winch strap must remain attached while loading and unloading the boat. Roller trailers are more expensive and can be a better choice for larger, heavier boats.
